Achieving your life-long dream of becoming a professional athlete is something you have worked hard for your entire life. The training, sacrifice and determination have finally paid off. As a professional athlete, your tax situation is unique. Playing all over the U.S., and other countries, receiving large sign-on bonuses or endorsement payments all have special tax consequences. These can vary by country, state, city and sport. Professional athletes need careful management of their finances and diligent planning to keep the most of what they earn.

The BMSS SALT Services Group can assist with all of your state and local tax needs. The BMSS SALT Services Group partners with wealth and retirement advisors to assist in preparing for tomorrow. Having financial advisors work together as a team can provide complete coverage for your overall wealth management.

The commitments and efforts made for your career have gotten you where you are today. Shouldn't that same attention go into protecting your wealth for the future?
